

E-COMMERCE INTEGRATIONS

Expand your online sales

Introduction

E-commerce has created new options in an uncertain supply chain and let mid-size distribution operations go toe-to-toe with retail giants. Cavallo integrates seamlessly to leading online sales platforms at multiple points throughout your distribution workflow.

What is e-commerce integration?

These software connectors plug into Cavallo applications to unite your e-commerce platforms with your complete distribution operations software solution. Users can integrate these systems to ensure up-to-the-minute accuracy on sales data and inventory availability.

You should use an e-commerce integration if:

- Your company struggles with inventory count accuracy and timeliness
- Syncing sales data is tedious and error-prone
- You have low visibility into sales and order history

What does it look like in action?

Automatically integrate data from your website to your inventory management solution to track sales from the moment they're placed through the entire fulfillment processes. These connector tools let you create a smooth selling workflow that speeds the entire process and leverages automation to avoid any human error. Easily import customers and orders, track inventory levels, export items, and track order status updates.

How does e-commerce integration enhance my selling game?

Whether you're just launching an online store or have been leveraging e-commerce channels for years, Shopify and Magento understand how to make your selling platforms friendly and easy to navigate. Not only will you close more sales; by integrating your selling software with a full-service distribution management solution, you'll remove the hassle of switching software, transferring data, or manually tracking sales and inventory counts. Save your business time, money, and effort, all with one connector.

CAVALLO'S E-COMMERCE INTEGRATIONS

In addition to its flagship open-source commerce platform, Magento offers cloud-based omnichannel solutions including in-store, retail-associate, and order-management technologies.

Shopify provides everything you need to showcase your products online, process payments, and make your store work for you.
